

Faraday School

Description

Service Description

Founded in 2009, Faraday is a small but growing independent primary school in East London. The school's riverside location provides a magical environment and access to a stimulating, creative community that offers exciting learning opportunities for the pupils and staff.

Here at Faraday, we are committed to giving every child a first-class education, with small classes, quality teaching and a personal approach. In these formative years we hope to inspire a love of learning and that this desire to explore, grow and create will stay with our pupils for life. We place a strong focus on literacy and numeracy, with a targeted approach that enables each child to progress at their own level.
